

bon appétit

Book It!

FOOD LOVERS' HOTELS 2017

Our highly specific guide to the most delicious places to stay in America

Chef Erik Bruner-Yang

Photo: Peter Frank Edwards

All-Star Lineup THE LINE, Washington, D.C.

If we find a hotel that happens to have, say, a restaurant specializing in hearth-cooked local game or a diner-and-Asian-inspired-tasting-menu spot from a top chef, we book a room in a heartbeat. Throw in a Third Wave coffee shop and a bar helmed by a rockstar bartender, and you've got the just-opened Line D.C. Woodberry Kitchen's Spike Gjerde and Maketto's Erik Bruner-Yang have teamed up to bless the neoclassical church turned hotel with five distinct food and drink concepts. And we haven't gotten to the room service congee yet. -A.S.